

Description

An interesting combination of two unique islands: weather and cars. Thanks to various manipulation elements, children can develop small motor skills, fitness and visual-motor coordination. Playing stimulates child's perceptiveness, curiosity and engages child's attention for long hours. In addition, connected with a functional bench - bridge islets give many opportunities to practice the whole body. Moving from one island to the other forces concentration, maintaining the correct posture and balance, and also improves high motor skills
